

Arctic Blast Poised to Move into Northeast Colorado

- Monday --- Turning Much Colder and windy by afternoon
- Snow developing by late afternoon/evening.
- Snowfall Accumulations up to 2 inches by midnight Monday.

- Tuesday-Thursday --- Arctic Air Remains Entrenched
- Even colder with high temperatures in the teens.
- Better chance of accumulating snow Tuesday night - Wednesday

- Dress appropriate for changing weather conditions.
- Slick roads expected.
- Extended cold period.
- Temperatures 30-40 degrees below normal.

Arctic Cold will Arrive Monday Afternoon

Leading Edge of Cold Air
By Noon
on Monday

-20 -0+ 20 40 60 80 100

Even Colder Air Spreading into Eastern Colorado
Tuesday-Wednesday

Colder

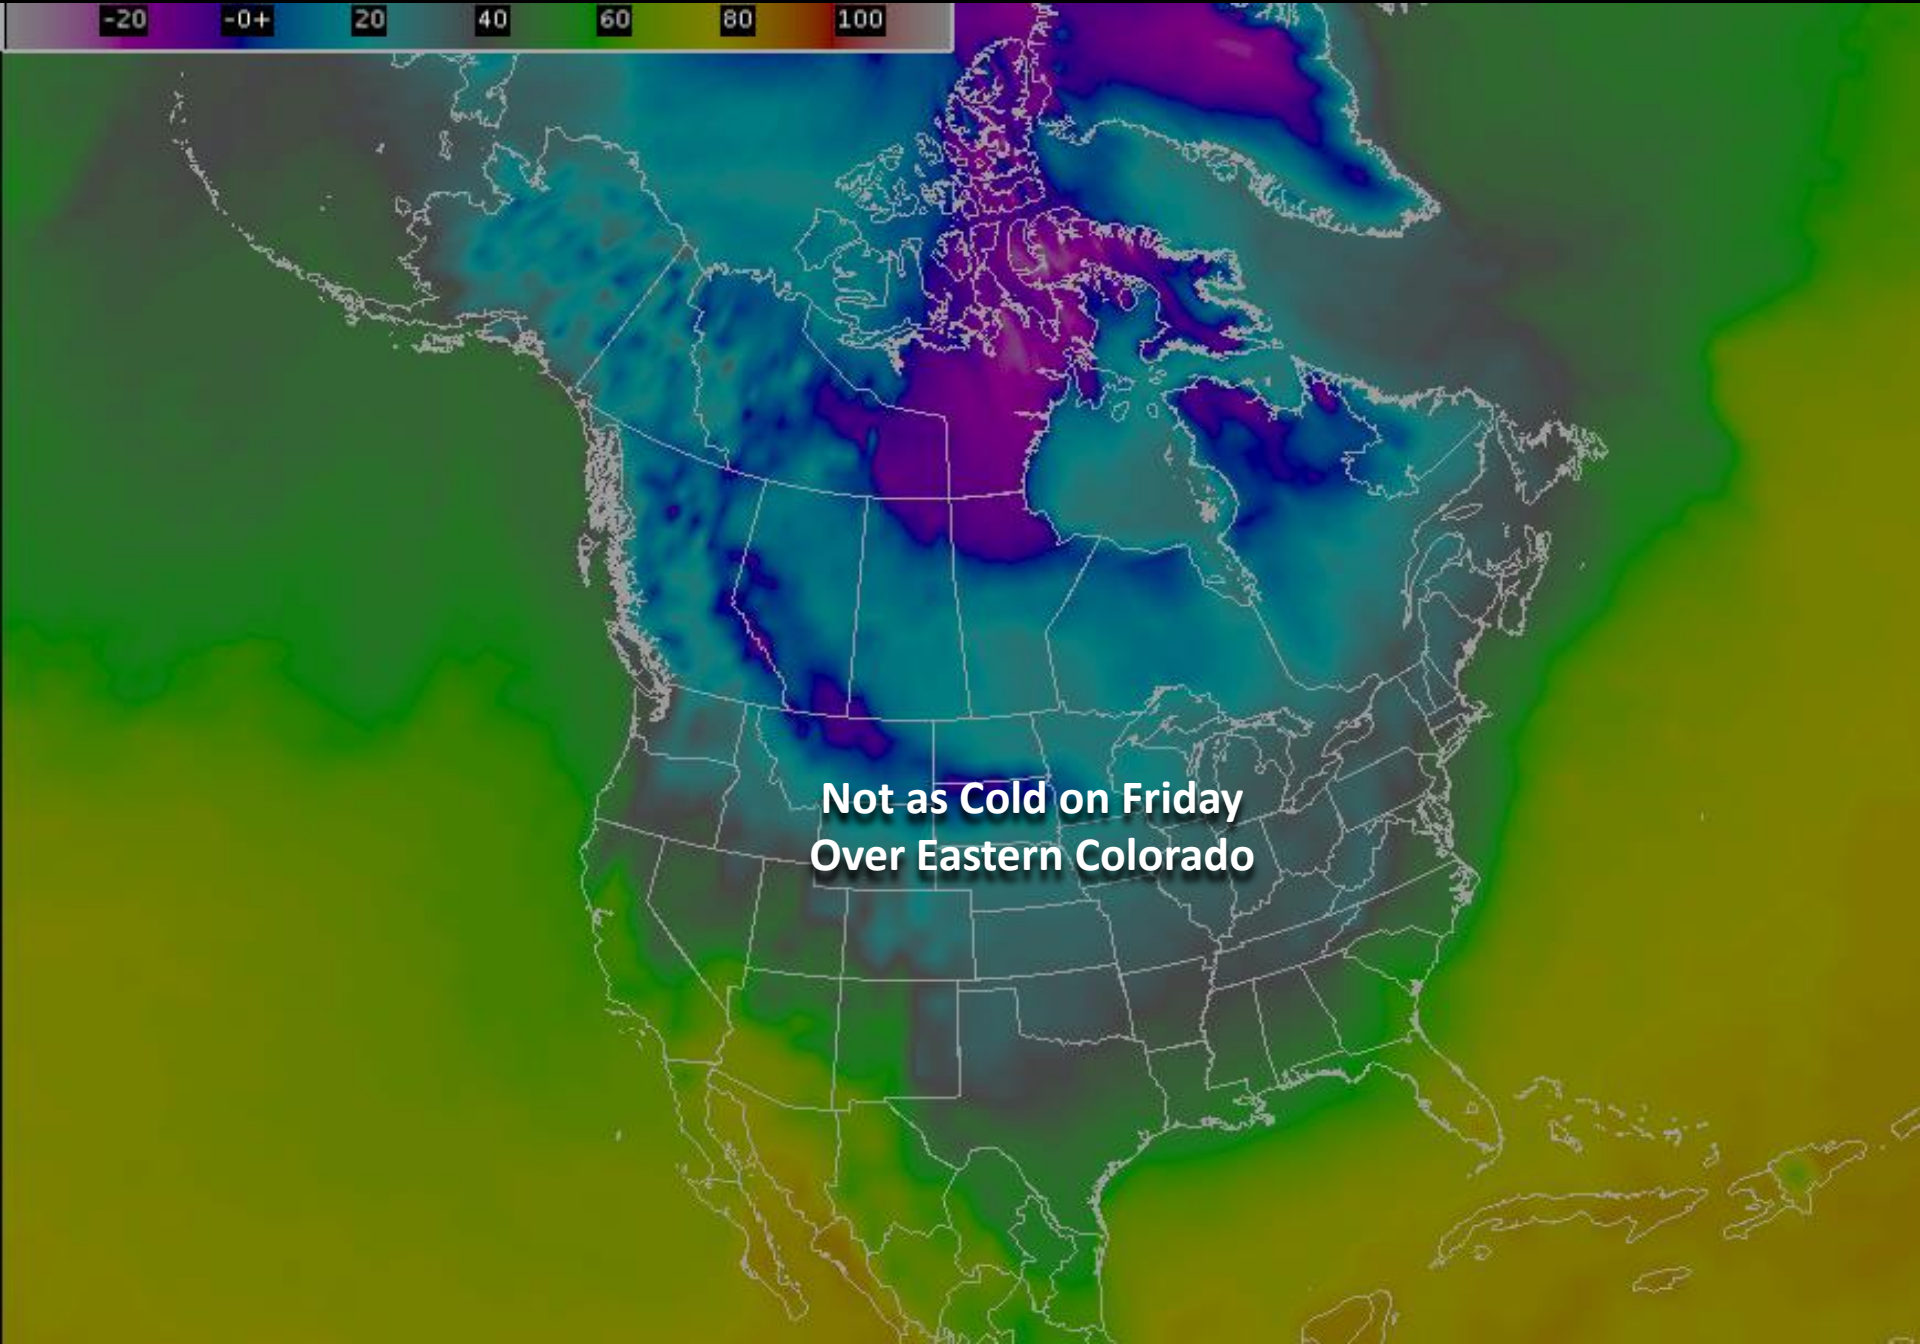

weather.gov/Denver

National Weather Service Denver /Boulder

@NWSBoulder | Updated: 11/9/2014 7:46 PM

Not as Cold on Friday
Over Eastern Colorado

-20 -0+ 20 40 60 80 100

Another Shot of Colder Air
by Saturday?

